ROGER WHITTALL SAFARIS- ZIMBABWE'S FINEST SAFARIS

"Some once knew a place called Africa. I still live there, in undisturbed bush amongst an abundance of wildlife. It is here that I have allocated a large and beautiful section of land exclusively for that special breed of person - the silent hunter."

Roger Whittall's Safaris has the backup of 21 years in the safari business, a life-time of hunting, and with 130 0 acres of prime African bush, your hunt is bound to be a memorable experience. With concessions in the northern part of Zimbabwe, along in the Zambezi Valley, and one of the finest conservancies in Africa, Roger Whittall Safaris can offer the discriminating sportsman a variety of the greatest trophy animals in true classic African style.

CHEWORE CONCESSION- ZAMBEZI VALLEY

Wild and rugged, Chewore is Africa in it's original unchanged beauty. In the midst of the Zambezi Valley, this concession is over a half million acres in size. Offering excellent Buffalo, Elephant and Lion hunting, there are always large numbers of animals to be seen and hunted. In the evenings it is a pleasure to listen to the night sounds- Lions roaring and the Hyena laughing. Big game hunting that offers a rewarding safari. A gravel airstrip is half an hour from the camp to accommodate charter planes, or you can drive in and see the majestic Valley open up before you.

HUMANI RANCH- SAVE CONSERVANCY

Humani Ranch is the base and main hunting area for Roger Whittall Safaris. It was pioneered in the early 1920's by Jimmy Whittall, Roger's father. Sheer force of willpower turned a vast tract of land into a successful cattle ranch, and it was into this that Roger was born. Wild Africa is not a hospitable place, and one has to earn one's right. There has never been any dispute about Roger's place in Africa.

Humani is no longer a cattle ranch. It is now a game reserve - a transformation masterminded by Roger, resulting in a natural, wild place with no fences restricting the movement of game. Roger has made it his business to pass on his love of this land and its bush, the excitement of the hunt, and to create an experience that you will never forget. This area is also known for producing some of the biggest leopard coming out of Africa today.

The previous cattle ranch is coming full circle and is gradually returning to its natural state. The last forty years have seen the development and encouragement of game thriving at Humani. This climaxed in 1991 when Humani and 23 other ranches joined forces and, over the next few years, sold their cattle, tore down their fences and turned their attention solely to the bush and its wildlife. 3200 square kilometers of land now make up the Save Valley Reserve, the largest privately owned nature reserve in the world. Humani is a large area with very diverse terrain, home to the Big Five, over 400 different species of birds and multitude of other fauna and flora. There is a range of camps (tented and open - plan thatch), all with en suite bathrooms.

This concession area of approximately 130 0 acres is situated in the South Eastern Lowveld within the Save Valley Game Reserve. Outstanding Antelope and Leopard hunting are the main attraction in this area where some magnificent specimens have been taken. The concession also boasts some of the finest lion, buffalo and elephant trophies in all of Zimbabwe. Success is as close to 100% as it gets in Zimbabwe.
